SCIENCE WINS CHAMPIONSHIP

ROSEBOROUGH STARRED

Was Easily the Best Player on Field in Game at Stadium Yesterday.

Showing marked superiority over their opponents, the Science Rugby players had little trouble in defeating Medicine in the final game of the inter-faculty football series yesterday. The match was played at the Stadium, the final score reading 30 to 2. The Medicine team could not hold back the heavy Science players, with the result that they broke through repeatedly for big gains. Their halves were almost always outdistanced in the punting duels, while they also fumbled repeatedly at critical periods.

Roseborough was undoubtedly the star of yesterday's contest, and it was mainly through his good work that the Science team managed to pile up such a big total. He always hit the line hard when asked to carry the ball, while he ran and tackled like a veteran. Had McGill played in the Intercollegiate Union this year, "Rosie" would certainly have gained a place on the team, as his work yesterday stamped him as being one of the best players now attending McGill. He scored two touchdowns during the match, while he also made a number of spectacular runs down the field. On three occasions he went through for thirty yards or more, only to be called back by Referee Paisley because one of his teammates was offside.

Another player who showed good form was Herbie Woolatt, who also scored two touchdowns. Herbie directed the Science team's play and worked as hard as he ever did in an intercollegiate contest. He filled the position of quarterback in an able manner, and showed the crowd that he was as good as, if not better than, last year. He also converted two tries, one being from a very difficult angle.

The Medicine players, Madden, was by far the best, although not quite as sensational as in the game between Arts and Medicine on Wednesday. He nevertheless, punted, ran and caught in faultless fashion. He also made one spectacular run for thirty yards through a broken field at a time when the ball was dangerously close to his own line. Chantel was another player of the defeated team to give a good impression. This man stopped a number of rushes of the Science combination through his excellent tackling ability. In the early stages of the game, Chantel figured in almost every rush, but tired badly towards the finish.

Williscroft is another player who deserves mention for his fine work against the Meds. George almost always outkicked the opposing halves in the various punting duels, giving his team advantages at critical stages. He also ran and caught well. Art Brown, of last year's seniors, put up a fair showing, although he twice placed his team in dangerous situations by getting offside. Brown, however, proved a good ball-carrier, while he also stopped a number of rushes that threatened to bring the ball near the Science line.

According to Lemay, who is one of the judges for the awarding of the M's, Roseborough was the best player on the field. He stated that in his opinion the following members would be considered in the granting of the letters: Medicine—Chantel, Madden, McGregor, Parks and Donnelly. Science—Roseborough, Wilson, Williscroft, Trapp, Woolatt, Brown, Routhwaite and Neil. These men all showed good form at various periods of the contest yesterday. However, before any man can be awarded a letter, it is understood that he must have figured in at least one-half of the class as well as the faculty series.

The scoring was done chiefly in the final quarter. When the first period had ended, Science had tallied five points against one for the Meds. The latter failed to add to their total before the first half had finished, while their opponents scored eight more. The Meds did a little better in the third quarter, holding their opponents down to five points, while they themselves only scored one, through a rouge. It was in the final session that Science secured their big total, thus gaining twelve points while their opponents were blanked.

The game itself was fast at all stages, though in the early moments very little kicking was done. Science repeatedly marched down the field by means of stellar work by Brown, Roseborough and Woolatt. The Meds. always were forced to work the ball back through punts, as their line could never break through the heavy Science line.

The Play.

Science lost the toss and Routhwaite kicked off to Madden, who was downed on his 15-yard line. The Meds worked hard to break through on the first two downs, but with no result. On the third, Medicine lost possession for offside interference. Lining up quickly and taking their opponents by surprise, Science gained first blood, when Herbie Woolatt went through for fifteen yards to score a

MEDICALS HAD GOOD MEETING

PROF. CHIPMAN SPEAKER

Emphasized the Need of Caution in the Choosing of One's Profession.

At a large meeting of the Medical Society last night, much important business was disposed of, and a very interesting address was delivered by Prof. Chipman.

A motion was passed adopting the suggestion of the Students' Council, that the first three years in Medicine be ranked as freshmen, sophs and juniors in all the major athletic clubs, and the two senior years be ranked as seniors.

Mr. Stuart, '16, was elected to represent the society at the annual event of the Medical Society of the University of Toronto. Mr. Couture was elected to be the representative at the Laval dance to be held at the Ritz next Thursday evening.

The president next introduced the speaker of the evening, Prof. Chipman asked permission to substitute his remarks on the Magee Maternity Hospital of Pittsburgh with a discussion of a recently published document from Harvard University, which is a compendium of the ideas of the graduates of the Harvard Medical of the past ten years. This compendium of the experiences of the 317 men who have obtained medical degrees from Harvard in the past ten years proved most interesting. These men gave their unbiased opinions regarding their success in life, their liking and general aptitude for their chosen profession as well as the weaknesses of the curriculum of their Alma Mater. A great many expressed the belief that Harvard is lacking in its teaching of therapeutics.

The speaker then asked if any one would volunteer to answer the question why he chose the medical profession for his life-work. He emphasized the importance of a man exercising extreme common sense and good judgment in deciding upon his college course. He declared it was a veritable tragedy for a man to make a haphazard and wrong choice. Prof. Chipman said he liked the practice of medicine better than other work, and that he thought this attitude was absolutely necessary for a man's success in any calling.

In closing, the speaker said there was a great demand for public health officials and specialists in preventive medicine. He spoke of the seriousness of the medical profession since it dealt with the actual realities of things, and understood what life and death meant, and that the practice of medicine was as great as life itself.

COLLIE "DOG" WAS HUN SPY

WAS BURIED TO THE NECK

Pte. Walter Patrick Back in Canada Five Months After He Left With 2nd Company.

How a German spy disguised in a dogskin tricked the British until a suspicious Cameron Highlander brought his down with a bullet related to the McGill Daily yesterday by Pte. Walter Patrick, McG. '12, Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry, who has been invalided home from the front, the first member of the Universities' Companies to return to Canada.

It all happened while the Pats were occupying the first line trenches, near Ploegsberg. On two consecutive mornings a man in the Camerons, who are brigaded with the Princess Patricia's, noticed a large dog leaving a vacant house in the neutral ground between the trenches. Dogs belonging to both Germans and Allies are allowed to run loose without being harmed, but the fact that this dog was so regular in his movements led the Cameron to suspect that the dog was carrying messages for the Germans. He determined, therefore, that if the same thing happened the following morning, he would shoot the dog. It did happen and the "dog" was shot. When the man went out the same night to find out about his prize, he discovered that the "dog" was a small-sized German who had been using the deserted house as headquarters for securing information regarding the British trenches and the movements of the troops.

Was Buried in Dugout.

Pte. Patrick is invalided home through injuries which he received when he was buried to the neck in sandbags and debris when his dugout was shattered by a German whiz-bang. He was buried in this manner for half an hour before he could be released by his comrades and was then found to have a flat lung, and a wrenched knee due to his exertions to free himself, and to the pressure of the sandbags. He has been given three months leave, and is fast recovering.

Pte. Patrick, whose home is at 22 Hawthorne avenue, Ottawa, was the first man to enlist in the Second University Company under Lieut. George Currie. Previously employed for two years in the Ordnance Department at Ottawa, he tried to join the First University Company, but was just too late to be accepted. Shortly after the Second Company crossed to Shorncliffe, the First Company on being ready to proceed to the front, found itself four men short in strength, owing to the fact that this number of men were in hospital. Capt. Barclay, O.C. First Company, therefore, called for volunteers from the Second Company and Pte. Patrick was one of those accepted, the others being Ptes. Cowan, Striker and Noons, all of Montreal.

The First Company landed at Rouen and thence marched four miles uphill to Broyers Camp, where they stayed for four days under canvas. At the end of that period they marched back to Rouen, and from there were taken by train to Le Treport, thence to Armentieres. The Company first occupied trench 24, at the corner of Champagne road and Church road. This locality was known as "The Devil's Corner," because of the danger to which men were exposed to the fire of snipers. Any man passing in front of a nearby church had always to be on the lookout, as he made a splendid mark for the snipers.

The Death of Pte. Lester.

They were in these reserve trenches for two weeks, two days in and four days out. It was during this time that Pte. William R. Lester, Sci. '18, was killed while making barbed wire entanglements two or three miles behind the firing line. He was struck in the neck by a stray bullet and was buried in a cemetery about half a mile to the rear. The King's Royal Rifles acted as relieving battalion to the P.P.C.L.I. at this time, the latter being brigaded with the K.R.R., the Rifle Brigade and the Camerons.

The following week, the Pats went into the first line trenches relieving the King's Royal Rifles. They spent two days in and two days out at this time, as the K.R.R. had been granted leave, and three battalions were left to carry out the work previously done by four. It was at four o'clock one morning, when the Universities Company withstood their first attack. "We were all in our dugouts smoking and playing cards," says Pte. Patrick, "when the Germans tried to advance." The sentry called stand-to and we gave them fifteen rounds of rapid fire when they retired after suffering heavy losses." Pte. Patrick ascribed the failure of this attack to the wildness of the covering fire of the German artillery and to the fact that the Pats were as well prepared as they could possibly be.

After about two or three hours, the German artillery got the right range and began planting whiz-bangs about five or six yards ahead of the Pats' trenches. One of these blew in the side of the trench which Pte. Patrick and three com-

The University Settlement

How strange it is that we, as students, allow so many worthy institutions bearing our name to go merrily ahead without enquiring into their welfare or volunteering our services in their maintenance. An example of this comes to light in the form of the University Settlement of Montreal, an organization which carries on in a quiet way the most praiseworthy work, yet with scarcely any attention from the student body.

What is being accomplished by the University Settlement in its various activities is put in convenient form in the annual report which has just been circulated. The variety of the different directions in which those in charge of the Settlement and those assisting in it turn their efforts is to persons on the outside simply amazing. A Milk Station, a Kindergarten, a Library, Classes for Boys and Girls, a Dramatic League, a Troop of Boy Scouts, a Mothers' Club, a Men's Club, and a Summer Camp for Children and their Mothers, all these are maintained through the Settlement, which in its different branches of work seeks to meet the needs of the neighborhood at every stage from infancy upwards.

Of all these activities, perhaps the most important is the Milk Station through which we are told 22,000 quarts of milk were last year dispensed. Under competent supervision, the handling of milk and the preparation of formulae are carried out with scrupulous care. The Utility of the Milk Station is seen in the statement that there are 170 babies on the register, about seventy-five of whom were cared for daily. About 4,500 special formulae were prepared during the year, there were 1,500 medical consultations and about 2,000 visits to homes paid by the nurse-in-charge. In addition to this, the Milk Station is becoming a valuable educational centre through its clinics and its classes for the instruction of mothers.

The Kindergarten has an average attendance of twenty-one, its daily routine being in fine weather varied by walks and excursions. The Library is efficiently organized and offers in addition to the regular service, a series of evening Library sessions, which are found by the children to be of great benefit. Of Girls' and Boys' Clubs there are now twenty in existence, each self-governing, and with an average membership of fourteen. The Dramatic League has already obtained considerable success in the operettas and playlets which have been produced.

The Mothers' Club holds weekly meetings, which are social in character, but whose aim is also educational and useful. This is seen in the effort which members of the club have made toward the improvement of the health and cleanliness of the neighbourhood.

The addition to the funds of the Settlement of the proceeds from the Senior Play and Partials Play last session is much appreciated.

"The evidence of interest in Settlement affairs which the above named student efforts show, gives us the best of reasons to feel that the name 'The University Settlement' is not an empty one. It is hoped that many generations of students may carry on the tradition so well established, but also the stronger hope exists that the students may not be alone in their generosity. There is a place in the Settlement for all kinds of interest—that of the young and that of the experienced."

Yet, how many students avail themselves of this opportunity?

Editorial Note

Nothing is more disturbing than to pick up a newspaper only to find that the very article you were to read has been torn out. But such has been the case in the Union reading room during the present year. It is only thoughtlessness on the part of a few students, to be sure, but it is most aggravating to readers. The sporting pages are the most often subjected to this treatment, and these pages are also the most sought for by undergraduates.

Certainly any article that is wanted by an individual could be cut out of the paper the following day without so great inconvenience. The practice should be stopped. Every member of the Union owes it to his fellow-members to report such misdemeanor, so that immediate action may be taken by the proper authorities.

Yale.—President Hadley, in his annual report, spoke favorably in respect to the question of having military training in the colleges and universities of this country.

Dartmouth.—Rumors to the effect that Dartmouth may become co-educational have caused a great deal of excitement on the campus.

Illinois.—The legislature of Illinois has passed a bill which grants the University of Illinois $5,000,000. This is said to be a record appropriation for any state university.

Missouri.—The class scrap at the University of Missouri resulted in one man being fatally injured and four seriously hurt.

CERCLE FRANCAISE

Second Meeting to be Held in Union on Monday at Dinner Hour.

This club is perhaps the most popular of the minor clubs at McGill. Its object is not only to promote social intercourse between the students of the university, but also to improve their fluency in speaking French.

The club has already been placed on a firm basis, and a schedule of most attractive meetings drawn up by the executive. These meetings take the form of informal dinners, at which many distinguished men are entertained throughout the session, and theatre nights held in the various French theatres of this city.

To facilitate catering and the obtaining of theatre privileges, a resolution was passed to limit the membership of this club. There are, however, a few vacancies remaining, and prospective members are urged to see the president, Mr. Terroux, or the treasurer, Mr. Rutherford (Arts '18), before the next meeting, which will be held in the McGill Union at 6:15 on Monday evening.

Through the efforts of the honorary president, Dr. Villard, M. Gonzalez Desaulniers will be the guest of the evening. All members are therefore asked to co-operate with the executive to welcome the visitor.

This famous war play has been selected by the ladies of the Soldiers' Wives' League as the attraction for the benefit of the Khaki League at His Majesty's all next week, when eleven performances will be given in aid of this worthy charity.

"Inside the Lines" ran all last season in New York. It was written by the author of "Seven Keys to Baldpate," the most famous of recent farces, which George H. Cohan made into one of the biggest successes of recent years, and it has that resourcefulness of invention, that tensesness of plot, that audacity of humor and that fund of human native which made "Seven Keys to Baldpate" as unique in its field as "Inside the Lines" is in the year's crop of war plays.

To the Editor of The Daily:

Dear Sir.—In a recent issue of your daily I noticed that the Presbyterian Theologues had decided to send smokes to their fellows at the front. As a University man I would like to congratulate the Presbyterians on this resolution. It was, indeed, a daring performance to break through the barriers of usage which have hitherto bound them from true self-expression. Some Theologues, indeed, to my knowledge have relegated smokers in general and theological smokers in particular, to the legion of the lost ones. From the above resolution I am now confident that at least in the Presbyterian College there are men who are willing to shake off the shackles with which false idea of religion and deportment have bound them.

In conclusion, it remains only for me to express the hope that the Presbyterian boys at the front will thoroughly enjoy the cigarettes sent to them, thinking fondly of the President, the Council, and the students who considered that the use of tobacco was not necessarily un-Christian or un-Presbyterian.

The Wounded Never Complain, Says Pte. W. B. Scott.

THE MILITARY CHAPLAIN

"For God and Freedom," Cried Clergyman Who Enlisted as Private in the Ranks.

Pte. W. B. Scott, Law '12, who has been invalided home from the front after the loss of his right eye, was a speaker at the big recruiting meeting at Ottawa in aid of the 77th Battalion, C.E.F.

An Ottawa report says:

Private Scott jumped right into his story with the breeziness of a soldier. He stated that he would tell them of the life of Canadians in the trenches. His father, he said, was at the front and he had two brothers going.

"I went as a private," he said. "If you take a tip from me—don't go to this work as a general." He advocated instead, that chums get together and go as privates. He then described trench life, and stated that it was a queer sort of life with montony the predominant feature of it, save when broken by attacks from the enemy. A brief description of the trenches was here given, and from that the speaker gave an idea of how the men were fed. He stated that they were all well equipped by as to rations. Good bread, butter, jam, cheese, lots of bully beef, or corned beef as it is known here, and lots of hard tack biscuits. He stated that these latter made excellent fuel for fire when they needed them.

Tea in the Trenches.

"A soldier in the trenches is always making tea when he has nothing else to do," he continued. "The tea comes in bags with the sugar mixed in it. If you like lots of sugar, you dig down to the bottom of the sack, as the sugar sits down to the bottom."

He described the various methods used by the boys in making tea, descriptions of which caused many a smile.

"At night," he continued, "you go and do chores when the Huns cannot see you. Get wood, water or anything else that you have to do. There are listening parties to try and find out what the Germans are doing. That is not a very healthy job. The spirit of the men is wonderfully good, considering what they are up against."

"I heard of a young curate who came to Valcartier to be a chaplain in the army. His name was Dey. There was no vacancy, so he signed up as a private. He was in the bayonet charges, and every time he would strike a Hun he would give a frightful yell and shout, 'For God and Freedom.' This is not a newspaper story, but a true one."

They Never Complain.

"In the hospitals I never found any of the wounded complaining about their lot, no matter how hard it was. For example, where a man lost the sight of both eyes, and another who had lost the sight of one eye and could just tell light from darkness with the other. The only man I heard complaining was one who had been struck in the hand. Yet these were all men such as I see before me, citizens who have enlisted since the war began."

"Why are these Canadians out there? Because they are defending you and yours." He here narrated an incident of the front; how they had found the bodies of an old man and woman floating in the cellar of their own home.

"Why was this?" he said. "Because their men of military age were not able to defend them." He said that those who were enlisting now were not enlisting for the love of fighting.

"Those who are in it for the love of fighting are already there," he said. He claimed that the war was not over yet, and that if Germany should win, then the prize she would seek most would be Canada. Germany did not wish to colonize Europe, he claimed—it was already thickly populated.

"No; it was Canada she wanted. Some think the Atlantic Ocean is a barrier. It is not; it is a pathway for the enemy."

All Doing Their Duty.

"I am frequently asked since I came back whether the people of England are doing their duty. To that I most decidedly say yes. I say it as a Canadian who was never in England before this war started, and as a man who has two brothers preparing to go to the front. I would not let them go if I did not know that the people of the British Isles are doing their duty." He stated that he had been around England considerably after he was wounded, and that he could say without hesitation that all classes were doing their share. They were enlisting out of proportion to the percentage enlisting from Canada."

"There is nothing to the strikes," he continued. "I was amongst the laboring classes, and they are doing their part as well as any one. They tell me that the reason they struck was because their employers were making large profits out of war contracts." He told briefly how regiments had been raised and reserve after reserve regiments formed, and stated that one battalion had 5,000 men in it since the war began.

Have Marched Forty Miles Back of the Trenches is Story.

News of Other McGill Men On Active Service—Medical Graduates Volunteering.

That the Princess Patricias have left the firing line for a period of several weeks is evident from a letter just received from Pte. Spencer R. Symonds, Arts '18. Pte. Symonds writes:

"Since my last letter home we have been on the go, and I have had little time to write. Last Sunday we left our rest camp at 8:15 a.m., and marched sixteen miles, moving directly away from the firing line. We arrived at our destination at 2:30 p.m. and set up tents. We only stopped over the night, and the next morning set out again. This time we marched ten miles, but it had rained during the night, and the roads were heavy as well as being hilly. Our platoon is billeted in a barn, the floor of which is none too secure.

"We are about six miles from a large city, and Sutherland, Stan Gammon, Potts and I, having put in passes and having them returned signed, set off for the city. This was just two days ago and the day after arriving here. We were not able to get off till 4 p.m., but arrived after a brisk walk at 5:15. For the first time in many months I took a car, and we soon reached the centre of the city. We had a fine dinner and wandered around for a short time. We were able to get a hack, which was fortunate, owing to the little time we had. No hacks, as a rule, are allowed out of the city, but as we all had passes, the French guard let us through. We did not have time to visit the large cathedral, the largest in France, but from all accounts it is very fine.

"Since leaving the trenches I estimate that we have marched a good forty miles. I should think that we are about twenty-five miles or so from the nearest firing line. Our ultimate destination is unknown. The Montreal papers as usual report what we are going to do and where we are going, but their guesses are either premature or wide of the mark. At any rate we will be out of the trenches for an indefinite period, and may be for several weeks.

Surgeon-Major R. A. Bowie, Med '91, is now surgeon-in-chief at Moore Barracks Canadian Hospital at Shorncliffe. Major Bowie, who previous to the war practised at Brockville, Ont., and was medical officer of the 41st Rifles there, went overseas last winter and was for several months second in command of the Duchess of Connaught's Hospital at Cliveden.

Pte. Howe A. Jones, Med. 1900, has accepted a commission in the Royal Army Medical Corps, and will sail for England this week. He has been practising at Salisbury, N.B.

Lieut. Stuart Lemesurier, Law '12, who has returned from the front after recovering from wounds, will speak in aid of recruiting at Stanbridge East to-morrow morning. In the afternoon he will speak at Stanbury, and in the evening at Bedford.

PLATOONS MEET AT BASKETBALL

Platoon No. 1 of University Company Conquered No. 2 Platoon.

Platoons Nos. 1 and 2 of the Fourth University Company met last night in a basketball game, in which Platoon No. 1 was victorious by the score of 31 to 5.

The game was very interesting and greatly applauded by the roasters from the two platoons and others. Sergeant Major Werry also came in for his share of the applause. He has just returned for a few days from Three Rivers, where he is instructing a School of Instruction for Officers.

Fidler and Gemmell played a star game for the winners, while Telfer showed form on the defence. MacLean and Neashit were also of great assistance to the winners. MacLean getting one basket and one goal from the foul line. Fidler scored seven baskets, Telfer two, Gemmell four and Nesbit one. Hall, Knox and Williams were the stars for the losers, each scoring a basket from the foul line, while Thompson made the prettiest basket of the evening.

About Capt. Barclay.

Pte. Patrick was taken, after lying for twelve hours in the trench, to the advance dressing station and thence to No. 11 General Hospital at Rouen. He spent two weeks there undergoing treatment, and is now back in Canada, five months after he left. He returned on the S.S. Mississinaw.

The returned soldier pays a high tribute to Capt. Gregor Barclay, who is, he says, always considerate to his men and a soldier ever. The men could wish for no better officer, he says. Pte. Patrick saw the Third Company in England.

The men at the front have more tobacco than they can possibly use, according to Pte. Patrick, "and often throw away whole tins because of this." "A plum pudding and milk chocolate would be what the boys would most appreciate for Christmas," he concluded, "but whatever you do, don't send them any tobacco, for they won't be able to use it."

ALL PURE WOOL - GUARANTEED UNSHRINKABLE
MEANS ECONOMY PLUS COMFORT

NOT only is it manufactured by a firm who established themselves in Canada over 56 years ago—but a firm who have succeeded in producing woolen underclothing (CEETEE) that is not surpassed anywhere in the world—not even in the Old Country—so famous for the high quality of its woolen goods. When the British Government came to Canada looking for army underwear, ours was the only firm in Canada that had the necessary machines to produce the garments according to the samples which they brought with them. Therefore, they were compelled to change their specifications so that other knitting companies could be given some work immediately.

"CEETEE" Underclothing is all made on these special machines, from only the finest Australian merino wool obtainable. This wool is combed and combed until every possible particle of foreign matter is taken out, and it is washed until it is as clean as human ingenuity can make it. The yarn is then knitted to fit the human form. This is why it sets so neatly over the body, making the outer clothing fit as perfectly as possible.

IMMIGRANT IN THE CITY

Vivid Description of Unbelievable Condition of Tenements In Foreign Quarters.

Macdonald College are expected to send in a team, but it is not known how many. It is just possible that there will be some dark horses among them, and thus change the chances of the other faculties.

The run will start at 11 o'clock sharp, so the runners are advised to be around about 10:30 at the Union, where they will be able to leave their clothes.

QUIPS

—By T. J. K.

The soldiers, not content with tramping all over the campus and the use of the Union, have now erected wire entanglements in front of the Science Building. At least that is the only reason we can see for the fore-mentioned barricades. The first victim spent a day in the hospital.

The dentist is pessimist. In north, or east, or south; No matter how good business is He looks down in the mouth.

There is considerable speculation at the present time as to the identity of the three Science Juniors who borrowed an auto to make the geography excursion to Pointe Claire last Saturday. The speculation is caused by the fact that on the return trip the youthful automobilists tried to make the benzine waggon climb a tree, with the result that the joy car had to be brought back to the city in sections.

We notice by The Daily that "the Lit. and Y.M.C.A. board pictures have been put off." Put off the boards, as it were.

The grocer with the "crooked" scales Is just a beast of prey. For victims does he lie in weight The lifelong, busy day.

We have finally come to the conclusion that there are two kinds of peacocks, i.e., ordinary peacocks and a freshman growing a moustache.

She was an only daughter, Possessed of many charms; Her father was a rich man. Possessed of many farms, The daughter had a lover, A clever chap and cute, And every Sunday evening He came to press his suit. The father had a vengeance, As fathers often do— When but a boy he'd held a plow, Which gave him muscle, too— And when the lover called next night The father used his boot, And then the clever lover Had the tailor press his suit.

While it is true that youth must have its fling, it is also true that no one likes to be thrown over.

There is a clipping on our desk which states that it has just been discovered that garlic is used extensively to cure disease. In view of this fact there should be money in it for any one who will build a hospital on St. Lawrence-Main.

FENCING PRACTICE THIS AFTERNOON

To C.N.R. Tunnel Will be Held This Afternoon.

Second Practice Will Take Place at Union at Five O'Clock.

A fencing practice will be held this afternoon in the Union at 5 o'clock. Any men desiring to learn fencing and who were not present at the practice on Wednesday should turn out to-day so that the beginners may not be kept back by late entries to the class.

Every one should come provided with running shoes and some form of gym clothes. Anybody who owns foils should bring them along, too, for the club has barely enough to supply a large class.

The following are particularly requested to be on hand, as well as any others who have not yet given in their names: H. R. Wickens, A. Terroux, H. G. Macklin, E. J. Lowe, J. Argman, J. Audette, F. C. Auld, E. A. Common, E. Blinds, M. Galt, J. A. Howard, T. J. Kelley, H. Mouquin, G. B. McLarty, F. Mooney, F. Hale and G. M. Shaw.

"Only temporarily. I went back as soon as the doctor removed the shot."

Score: Science 5, Medicine 0. Woolatt returned the kick to Heney, the latter being downed by Trapp at centre. The Medicine team gained three yards on the first down, while on the next Madden ran through a broken field for 30 yards. This put some life into the team, and they broke through the Science line on the next down for another ten yards. Play was now at Science 25-yard line with Medicine in possession.

After failing to gain ground on two downs, Madden was given the signal to kick, but he was afforded poor protection, his punt going into the scrimmage and being gathered in by Brown. Trapp, however, fumbled when given the ball, putting the Meds in possession again. They lost the leather, however, for offside interference, and on the first down Roseborough went through for ten yards. This was followed up by another run by Woolatt. Science gained yards again on three downs, Routhewalte tearing right through the weak Medicine line.

Williscroft Closely Watched.

Williscroft was closely watched and could never get away for a run, he being downed in his tracks every time he was given the ball. Science lost the pigskin again for offside, and play was now in mid-field. Upham showed good speed by tearing past for ten yards. Science were over-anxious, losing ten yards again for offside. Medicine gained their first point of the game when Heney kicked to Williscroft, who was downed by Chantel for a rouge.

The Medicine line now began to hold a little better, but Roseborough again showed class by running through a broken field for twenty yards. This was followed by gains by Woolatt and Brown for ten and five yards, respectively. My means of a tandem buck, Science gained ten more yards. Roseborough again brought the spectators to their feet when he dashed over for a touch from the Medicine 20-yard line, only to be called back by Referee Paisley for offside. With play at centre, quarter time was called. The score was:

Science 5, Medicine 1.

Second Quarter.

Science lost possession again for offside, but after trying to break through on two downs, Heney was forced to kick. His punt did not go far, however. On the first down Williscroft kicked to Upham, who was tackled on his 15-yard line. Meds tried in vain to break through on the first two downs, but were helped a little when Paisley awarded them ten yards because of offside interference on the part of the Science aggregation. Upham kicked to Wilson, but Chantel did not give yards, and play was brought back to Medicine's 25-yard line. Art Brown tore through for ten yards, and on the following down Roseborough went over for another touch. This was converted by Woolatt.

Score: Science 11, Medicine 1.

After a return of kicks, play was brought to centre. Heney kicked to Williscroft, the latter being down on his 35-yard line. Roseborough went through for 30 yards on the first down, but play was called back owing to the fact that a Science player was again offside. Medicine, however, could not penetrate the opposing defence, and lost through failure to gain yards. Play was now on Medicine's 40-yard line. Routhewalte broke through the Meds' line for a gain of 25 yards, but the Science team lost possession on the first down through offside. Heney kicked to Wilson on first down, the latter returning to Madden, who was down by McNeil for a rouge.

Score: Science 12, Medicine 1.

After a return of kicks, play was brought to centre. Heney kicked to Williscroft, the latter being down on his 35-yard line. Roseborough went through for 30 yards on the first down, but play was called back owing to the fact that a Science player was again offside. Medicine, however, could not penetrate the opposing defence, and lost through failure to gain yards. Play was now on Medicine's 40-yard line. Routhewalte broke through the Meds' line for a gain of 25 yards, but the Science team lost possession on the first down through offside. Heney kicked to Wilson on first down, the latter returning to Madden, who was down by McNeil for a rouge.

Score: Science 12, Medicine 1.

Heney kicked to Wilson, the latter returning to Twohey, who was downed for another rouge. Half-time was called immediately after this point had been scored, the score standing:

Science 13, Medicine 1.

Second Half.

Wilson returned the kick to Heney, who was downed at centre. The latter punted, on the first down, to Williscroft, play being transferred to Science's 35-yard line. Brown broke through for ten yards, and then Williscroft kicked to Upham, who was tackled by McNeil on his 40-yard line. Medicine now resorted to a kicking game. Upham putting on the first down.

Roseborough again went through for fifteen yards, while "Babe" Ryan also gained yards. Science, however, lost immediately after for interference. Madden gave his team another point when he kicked to Williscroft, who was downed by McGregor for a rouge. Score: Science 13, Medicine 2.

Herb. Woolatt went through for ten yards, but Medicine received possession on the next down, when Science was offside. On the first down Upham kicked to Williscroft, bringing play to the Science 15-yard line. Roseborough relieved the situation somewhat by going through for a gain of 15 yards. Science obtained yards repeatedly, the ball travelling quickly down the field. A forward pass, however, again gave Medicine the leather.

Score: Science 14, Medicine 2.

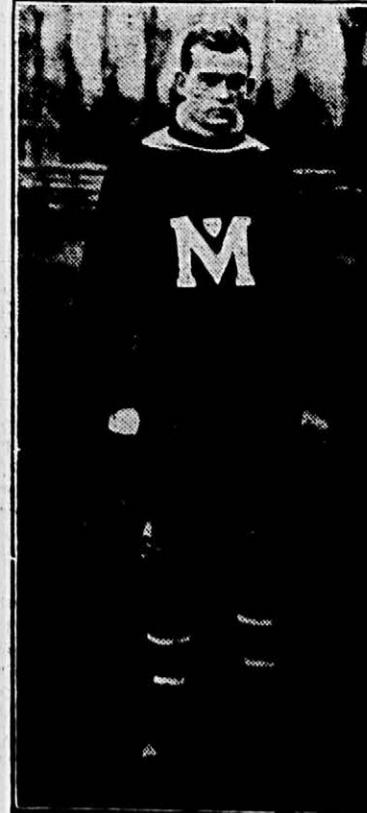

Woolatt returned Madden's punt, but the Meds failed to gain yards on three successive downs, with the result that play was now on Medicine's 35-yard line. Williscroft kicked onside, and Wilson grabbed the leather, running over the line for another touch. Woolatt failed to convert. H. Ferguson ran back the kick to the Medicine 40-yard line. The Meds, however, received possession because of offside, but this was worth nothing to them, as they failed to make yards. Woolatt then kicked to Heney. On the first down Upham punted to Wilson, who was downed at centre. Williscroft kicked to Upham on the first down, he being downed by McNeil for another point. The game was called shortly after this, the final score reading:

THEOLOGS TO PLAY BASKETBALL

League Formed and Games to Start Next Week.

The Affiliated Colleges Basketball League is now a full-fledged organization, and games are scheduled to commence next week. Each theological college was asked to ratify the proposal to establish such a league, and to elect two representatives on the executive. This was done, and the men elected met to complete arrangements. Mr. Findley, of the Diocesan College, is president; Mr. W. T. Bunt, of the Wesleyan, vice-president; J. H. Schofield, of the C.C.C., is secretary, and P. A. G. Clarke, of the P.C., is treasurer. The offices are to go in rotation among the colleges each year.

The Presbyterian College has now entered the league, and this links together all the theologists around McGill in this branch of sport. As has been stated, Prof. Graham, of the Wesleyan College, has generously offered to contribute a cup for competition. This will undoubtedly add zest to the play, and help to maintain the enthusiasm.

At present there seems to be plenty of this quality, on the part of all concerned, and indications point to a most successful season.

A neutral court upon which to play the games has not yet been secured, but it is hoped this will be remedied soon.

A schedule has already been drawn up consisting of twelve matches, six for each college, covering a period of three or four months. The A.C.B.L. is looking forward to some interesting times, and hopes incidentally to further the feeling of good-will which the affiliation of the theological colleges has helped so much to produce.

VARSITY MAY PUT TEAM IN THE O.H.A. SERIES.

Hockey men at the University of Toronto hope that a junior team will be entered in the O.H.A., and they are also pulling for a senior team as well, but they are by no means sure what the athletic directorate of the University will have to say in the matter. With Wilkinson, Sheldon, Rennie and Gouinlock of last year's team on hand, and Gossell, of Aura Lee, and Sullivan, of T. R. and A. A., the hockeyists are sure of a strong team in junior company. At a meeting they decided to see about practice hours, and will send a communication to the athletic directorate for consideration.

Athletics at Purdue University are not a paying proposition. This is proven by the statement that the treasury of the Athletic Association is practically empty. All remaining funds were turned over to the University proper assumed control of all forms of athletics. The treasurer's report showed that all sports, except football, resulted in deficit, and this year athletics fell far short of having the substantial surplus fund that is essential of the support of all intercollegiate contests.

DON'T NEED THEM THEN.

Little Georgie—"Do your folks ever have family prayers before breakfast?"

Little Albert—"No, we only have prayers before we go to bed. We ain't afraid in the daytime."

BETWEEN THE LINES.

(Philadelphia Bulletin.)
Hamilton Fish, Jr., told a war story at a smoker at the officers' training camp in Plattsburgh.

"Two brothers, Russians," he said, "were captured in the Carpathians and sent to a prison-camp in Germany.

"Their mother heard nothing from them for a long while, and the poor woman was nearly distracted. Then, at last she got a letter, a letter from the elder brother, Plotr."

"Dear mother," he wrote, "here I am in the lovely German prison-camp. I have a beautiful room, with use of bath. The bed is comfortable, clean sheets every week. Good food and plenty of it. Beer to drink and cigars to smoke. I am very happy."

"PIOTR."
"P.S.—Brother Ivan was shot this morning for complaining."
